LOOSE LEAF SALES URGED BY TOBACCO MEN OF CALLOWAY

Say That All Will Dump
Their Holdings on Market.

Believed That Felix Ewing
Will Agree to That Plan.

BLOODHOUNDS REACH MURRAY

Murray, Ky., Feb. 24.—(Special.)—Although the petition for loose leaf tobacco sales presented Felix Ewing Monday was a simple request and not a demand, it is becoming more and more apparent every day that unless something is done to stay the tide a large per cent of the tobacco grown in the county last year will be hauled to Paris, Tenn., and sold. One well known farmer put the matter squarely before Mr. Ewing Monday afternoon and informed him as to the true condition of affairs in the county. The farmer had been instrumental in getting up the petition, asking loose sales, and knew what he was talking about. He said that the greatest trouble in securing signers was that men who were dissatisfied with the tobacco had either hauled their tobacco to Paris or had made up their minds to do so, without asking any more favors from the association. But it is believed that the petition will be granted Monday, when the buyers will meet Manager Blakenore at Paducah to endeavor to reach an agreement. That the farmers will get what they want is believed from a statement said to have been made by Joe Washington, Ewing's brother-in-law, who circulated among the farmers considerably Monday, that the farmers of this county were bent on selling, and something would have to be done.

The popular demand is for a grader to be appointed to go to the barns of the farmers and fix a price on the tobacco and the farmer be permitted to sell to whom he pleased so he received the graded price.

Confiscates Whisky.

Forty quarts of bottle in bond whisky were confiscated by Deputy Sheriff Fred Waterfield court day, the whisky being hidden away in a barn near the depot. The whisky was confiscated and is now on exhibition in the sheriff's office, where the thirsty may get a look at it but no more. While Deputy Waterfield was waiting for a wagon to haul the booze to town, a country youth came to the barn and attempted to make a purchase in the usual way by laying two dollars down and picking up a quart and walking away. The officer informed the lad that he wanted all the whisky for his own use and the boy went away disappointed, saying that he had only done what he was told to do, to get a bottle.

Bloodhounds Arrive.

Murray is all on the qui vive today over the arrival of four trained bloodhounds in charge of a fancier named R. W. Olliver, of Iyerly, O., who is making trial runs as a test of the efficiency of the dogs before they are purchased by the county court. Judge Patterson called the fiscal court together in extra session to witness the trial and if the animals prove satisfactory he will make the purchase. The dogs look as if they mean business and it was with difficulty that a negro could be secured to act as "game," as the dogs are so vicious looking.

Republican Committee.

The county committee of the Republican party will meet the second Saturday in March to determine whether or not a ticket for county offices shall be nominated and if so the time and manner of making the nominations. From the present indications the party will at least make nominations for county judge and sheriff.

Marine Engineers' Meeting.

The present management of the local association, No. 24, Marine Engineers, has added many improvements to the already neat and attractive lodge room. The association now has one of the prettiest lodge rooms to be found between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. The time of the regular meetings has been changed to every Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Firemen Overcome

New York, Feb. 24.—Twelve firemen were overcome and one driven temporarily insane at a fire caused by a gas meter explosion in the cellar of a four-story building on First avenue today. Eight houses were burned. Two children were injured and 25 families driven into a rainstorm.

Many Kentucky Towns Flooded by Backwater and Residents Flee to Housetops and Hills For Safety

Ohio River and Tributaries
Are Rising Rapidly and Danger Point Has Been Passed
at Evansville.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 24.—(Special.)—The entire state is suffering from floods.

At Taylorville, in Spencer county, Salt river backed up ten to twelve feet in Main street. People were all forced to take to the second story. Provisions are scarce and some suffering is caused. Fifty people took refuge there on top of a school house. The damage at Louisville is the greatest ever known, due solely to the high water. A large amount of stock was drowned in the distillery sheds, and a heavy loss was caused at Ballard's flour mills. Street car service is crippled. In central and eastern Kentucky all the streams are raging torrents and many towns suffered severely.

At Gradyville, where the disaster of June, 1907, occurred, the water is nearly as high as on that night, but people awoke in time to save themselves and part of their belongings by moving to high ground.

At Salvesan, Mercer county, the home of George Watts was washed from its foundation and floated down the river. The family was saved.

At Scottsville, Allen county, creeks are higher than ever known before. One rural mail carrier, named Johnson, was drowned in a swollen creek near Scottsville. Railroads are blocked.

Trains along the Henderson route are blocked by a landslide near Hawesville, the track having slipped nine feet toward the river. Transfering is delayed all around. River is rising rapidly and one of the worst floods in years is feared.

Losses all over the state will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Maxon Bridge Damaged.

A small bridge near Maxon Mills was damaged yesterday by the heavy flow of water, and the Cairo trains last night were detained by way of Fulton. Slow orders were had by the trains yesterday in running to Cairo, and yesterday afternoon the bridge was repaired by workmen while the passenger train went by way of Fulton. The passenger due from Cairo at 7:45 o'clock did not arrive until 10:15 o'clock last night. The trains used the bridge this morning, and the Cairo branch was in service.

Rural Delivery Hampered.

Several of the rural route mail carriers out of this city were compelled to turn back yesterday morning on account of the roads being covered with water, which made it dangerous, as culverts are often washed out. The carriers of routes Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 6 all had to bring their mail back to the postoffice, after going a short distance in the country. Some of the carriers were not able to get more than a mile from the city limits, while others got out five and six miles before turning back.

At Evansville.

Evansville, Feb. 24.—The Ohio river reached the danger stage this morning and is now six inches above 35 feet. The Wabash also is rising. In some places the stream is several miles wide. A serious flood is feared.

Stalled by Snow

Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 24.—For the fourth time in four weeks train service in northern Nebraska and Dakota is tied up by snow drifts. Two trains headed for the Rosebud country are known to be stalled in drifts. Telephone poles are down in many places.

PRIMARY LAW

PROVES SUCCESS IN CHICAGO
ALDERMANIC RACES.

Republican Majority Fight at Springfield Will End in Contest in Court.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—The confusion resulting from the fact that the name of Jacob H. Marks appeared twice on the Republican primary ticket for city clerk voted on yesterday, caused the independent candidate, John R. McCabe, to pile up a huge vote, but he was defeated by the Jacob H. Marks, who was endorsed by the party chiefs.

Marks received 29,377 votes while McCabe got 27,424. The second Marks only received 3,066 votes. Aside from this confusion the election passed off peacefully. Political leaders declared the new primary law under which the aldermen were nominated for the first time a success.

Mrs. Lucy Beal.

Mrs. Lucy Beal, 32 years old, died yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at Riverside hospital of acute pneumonia of the heart. Mrs. Beal was taken to the hospital several weeks ago from Murray, her home. She is survived by a son, who lives with his grandfather at Murray, Mr. J. S. Irwin, father of Mrs. Beal and a prominent farmer. The body was prepared for burial by Nance & Rogers, undertakers, and was taken to Murray on the N. C. & St. L. railroad this afternoon. Relatives of Mrs. Beal arrived from Murray today.

WANT HEMENWAY FOR SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

Washington, Feb. 24.—Strong efforts are being made to induce Taft to appoint Senator Hemenway secretary of the treasury. Members of congress particularly are vigorous in the campaign. It places Taft in a delicate position, as a refusal would offend congress. The appointment probably would offend Roosevelt, who recently scored Hemenway for his report on the secret service question. Taft, however, may be able gracefully to sidestep by pointing out the fact that Hemenway was active in opposing him for the nomination before and during the Chicago convention.

They will return to Washington after the services on a special car attached to the train, leaving at 11 o'clock. The Robinson funeral party, under a guard of mounted police, went to the Church of the Holy Communion, where services were held. Taft joined the presidential party there.

ROBBERS MURDER WELLS-FARGO MAN AND LOOT OFFICE

Telegraph Operator Hears
Shots and Runs Out, Sees Nothing Suspicious.

Body Found When Day Man
Goes to Work.

OFFICERS SAY THEY GOT LITTLE

Hutchinson, Kas., Feb. 24.—Police today are seeking robbers who entered the Wells-Fargo office at the Santa Fe depot and dynamited the safe, after killing Agent Haymaker. The uptown office also was robbed. Officers think the same gang looted both. The amount secured is not stated.

Telegraph Operator Clark heard a shot and went outside, but saw no one. The murdered express agent was found when the day man reported at 6 o'clock this morning. The police believe he was murdered with his own pistol, as an empty shell was found and the revolver is missing. Police are looking for Orville Poland, seen about the station during the night. He went home this morning and told his mother he had spent the night with a friend. Since then he has been missing. Express officials say that only $10 was taken from both offices.

Boom in Steel Business Follows Cut in Prices and Building Trade Calls For Much Structural Work

Gary, Indiana, Mills Will Work Two Shifts and All
Others Will Rush to Keep Up With Orders.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—The Inland Steel company, a subsidiary of the trust, announced it will reduce its scale prices today. The boom in the steel business already felt is due to the reduction, and builders putting in large orders for structural steel. The new plant at Gary, Indiana, will be run and an additional force kept going night and day. Other mills near here expect to have to put on an increased force of men and run overtime.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 24.—Following the lead of the steel trust the National Lead company, practically controlling the lead business of the country, declared for an open market. It is said to be due to the fact that the company discovered that the independents have been cutting rates to get business.

NO BASKETBALL GAMES ARE PLAYED THIS WEEK.

No basketball games will be played this week in the city basketball league, owing to some of the players on the teams being unable to get in the games. While the players will be given a rest it is planned to make next week interesting and double-headers will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. The omission of games this week will enable the teams to put in extra practice and the games for next week are expected to be about the hardest since the league started, as every team is striving hard not to be left in the cellar when the curtain will drop on the season.

BASIS OF OFFENSE IS QUESTIONED IN STANDARD CASES

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Arguments have been prepared in the Standard rehearing in an endeavor to fix the "basis of the offense," the point on which the former case was reversed. The Standard says each settlement, if rebating is shown is a violation of law. The government contends each shipment. In order to get the matter before the court, the Standard's attorneys demand that the government select 36 counts from indictments brought and try the case on them. They say there were 36 settlements.

Business men, instead of farmers, are being summoned today here for the Standard Oil company twenty-nine million dollar fine. Every deputy United States marshal is busy rounding up new veniremen. The panel of 150 is expected to be present when the case is resumed tomorrow. It is expected several days will be required to select the jury.

SECOND DISTRICT SENATORIAL RACE ABOUT UNDER WAY

It is Believed That John M.
Moore, of Ballard, Cannot Appeal From Ruling.

Barry May Make County Unit
Bill Issue.

EATON HAS BIG ADVANTAGE

Although John M. Moore, of La Center, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator from this, the Second district, says he will appeal to the state committee from Central Committeeman W. J. Barry's decision that the convention shall be held here April 27, it is believed that no appeal lies under the rule governing party procedure. In that case it is not known whether he will make the race. If he does not, it is probable that E. Barry, editor of the Benton Tribune-Democrat, will endeavor to organize the counties of Marshall, Ballard and Carlisle against McCracken, whose candidate is W. V. Eaton. Mr. Eaton, who will unquestionably carry his own county solidly, will require only about three votes from the other three counties to win on the first ballot; so the proposition Mr. Barry will encounter is no small one.

Besides the three candidates mentioned, J. B. Wyatt, of Marshall county, has announced. He will be in Mr. Barry's way and Mr. Barry will be in his way, which adds to the strength of the McCracken county man.

It is not believed the local option question will cut much figure in this fight, although it is known that the anti-saloon league leaders have been "feeling out" the candidates. If there had been a popular primary, such as demanded by Mr. Barry, the league would have cut a bigger figure, but the convention reduces the league's influence to a minimum, as the county committee will have complete control.

However, it is probable that Mr. Barry will make his fight on that issue, and had there been a primary, he would have come out and forced the issue in the rural districts. He has made a record in the legislature. Mr. Eaton, who is well known in the city, has not espoused either side of the question as an advocate. He is rather inclined not to commit himself on anything, excepting specific measures.

In the lower house contest, the local optionists also lost in this county, as Eugene Graves, who was renominated on the Democratic ticket, went on record against local option in the last legislature.

Capt. Reeves, of the Reeves Lumber company, of Helena, Ark., was in the city yesterday and contracted with the Fowler & Wolfe Sheet Metal Works on lower Broadway for three new boilers for the steamer Birmingham, which has been moored in the Pacific harbor since last spring. The boilers will be made and put on the hull and then the Birmingham will be towed to Helena, where she will have the boilers fitted for steam and a new hull put on. The Birmingham was brought here last spring and taken on the way and her hull was torn off to put a new one on. Over some 1,000 tons of material was boxed up and sent to the river and it was the intention of the Reeves Lumber company to take her to Marietta to be repaired, but the river fell to such a low stage that it was impossible to get up the Ohio. A new hull has been contracted for at Helena.

Confession of Drug Demon.

A remarkable confession has been made by Dr. Omer M. Willis, of St. Louis, in which he lays bare his methods of supplying the needs of the city with opium and cocaine. By selling the "dope" he has amassed a fortune, and now has retired from the nefarious traffic and has declared that he will conduct a legitimate business. Willis is thoroughly in touch with every detail of the business, as according to his own confession he has supplied the narcotics to men and women of every class, even going so far as to furnish the drugs for a "dope" party that was held in a fashionable hotel in St. Louis, according to the St. Louis Republic.

In the story of his life Willis says that he was born and reared at Metropolis, Ill., and after he had completed the course of study in the grammar schools of his home town he went to the High school in Paducah and later was graduated. While in High school chemistry was his favorite study, and in order to keep in touch with it he went to Memphis and began working in a drug store. Later he went south and in several years had completed courses in several universities.

He started out as a physician, but his practice was slim and he went to St. Louis, where he entered a drug store and learned the immense profit in the sale of narcotics. Soon he began for himself, and despite that he was watched carefully by the police department and numerous detectives his business was never molested seriously. He was hauled into police court 57 times, yet he never paid one cent into the city for fines. His business flourished, for his patrons were many, and several famous opium joints were near his place of business.

Willis gives the physicians blame for prescribing it for patients. He is thoroughly aware of the evils of the vicious habit and depletes the feelings of a person under the influence of the drugs. He declares that a person under the influence of the narcotics is as harmless as a child, but it is when the system demands the "dope" and it is not on hand that the victims are wild.

Although he has amassed a fortune in supplying the demands of the unfortunate, Willis declares that he has never had a desire to use cocaine or opium.

Louis Mann is a comedian and his mission is to make people laugh. It is not fair to say he fails to score in the serious passages of "The Man Who Stood Still," but it is certain that every possible opportunity to squeeze a laugh out of the lines and situation of "The Man Who Stood Still" is taken advantage of by the man with the kooky tongue and broad-brimmed smile. This is Mr. Mann's first comedy of the legitimate, and he made a tremendous hit at the Kentucky last night.

A retrospective glance at the performance recalls that it was the scenes of unadorned comedy, not involved in the plot, in which Mr. Mann appeared to best advantage, such as the exquisite penochle game with Edward Spiegel.

Mr. Mann's comedy is good, and the characters are well diversified.

The piece is in four acts. It opens in the little watch repairing shop of John Kraus, a Switzer. He hopes his daughter, Marie, will marry Fred Spiegel, son of his friend, Edward Spiegel. She falls in love and is ruined by Frank MacFerguson, son of Kraus' Irish competitor, Martin MacFerguson.

He disowns his daughter, who deserted, finds refuge in the home of Spiegel. In a scene in Spiegel's home, when Spiegel learns of her dishonor, he drives her out. The reconciliation between father and daughter is brought about in an affecting finale, through the instrumentality of the baby's arias around her grandfather's neck. Fred Spiegel, still true, marries Marie.

Spiegel's daughter Alice, is in love with Joseph Abrams, a conscientious and persistent young Jew, who promotes his business affairs and love affair with native devotion, and wins. Incidentally MacFerguson woos and wins Kraus' sister, his housekeeper. The phlegmatic Switzer temperament is cleverly brought out by the dramatist in the development of characters of Kraus and Spiegel and by contrast with the others.

Mr. Mann delivered a curtain speech in which he thanked the audience for their greeting on his first appearance in the city.

Bohmer's Warehouse
9th & Harrison. Paducah, Ky. Old Phone 72

Empty hogheads furnished free to parties wishing to ship their tobacco by rail or river

Tobacco is unloaded in large, flat baskets, each grade to itself, weighed and receipt given owner, showing number of draft and pounds thereof. A corresponding ticket is placed on each pile. The highest bid is written on ticket and, should owner accept same, by presenting at office receipt previously given, the cash is handed over.

Should the bid offered not be satisfactory, the tobacco can be offered the next day or at any other time thereafter.

It costs absolutely nothing to offer your tobacco unless bid is accepted, in which case we charge 15 cents per hundred pounds and 2 cents on the dollar.

The greatest demand among manufacturers and dealers is for loose tobacco and, since it will bring more money offered loose, why go to the expense of having prized, stored, insured, inspected and looked after?

You will get more money for your tobacco when offered to the highest bidder in open competition with twenty-five buyers trying to buy than when you expect or require one buyer to buy millions of pounds without competition at a round price.

GOOD CITIZEN WAS MR. NATHAN M. URI

Active in Politics and Public Affairs of His City.

Spoke in Campaigns in Which He Was Interested and Was Always Sure of Hearing.

HIS CAREER AND HIS WORKS.

Concerning Nathan M. Uri, who is buried today, the Courier-Journal said:

Nathan Uri was known throughout the city. He took an active interest in municipal affairs and was a speaker of ability. He had served as an alderman and was known as the friend of the great common people. He was a staunch Democrat and served as a member of the board of Aldermen with rare distinction to himself and the people he represented.

During political campaigns a large crowd was always in attendance when it was known in advance that Mr. Uri was going to make a speech. He called a spade a spade and never minced words in denouncing those he termed "ingrates." He was a strong factor in the fusion movement at the time Joseph T. O'Neal was the nominee, but he afterward went back to his "old love," stating justly that he realized what a grave mistake he had made, and that he desired to make a public apology for his act.

While a member of the board of Aldermen Mr. Uri waged a strong fight for better street car service and conditions today are as much due to his efforts as to any one other man. Mr. Uri was highly pleased at the numerous improvements instituted by the company, and often told his friends that he expected to live long enough to see Louisville have the finest street car service of any city in the United States.

Native of Kentucky.

Mr. Uri was a native Kentuckian. He was born in Paducah in 1852. His early education was received in that city, and he afterward went to Cincinnati, where he entered the Cincinnati High school. He was graduated from that institution and received many honors. Mr. Uri was a great reader of books, and had one of the finest libraries in the city in his home. He served for a time on the board of trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library, and was a strong advocate of providing branch institutions throughout the city for the poor.

In 1877 Mr. Uri was married to Miss Addie Levy, of Paducah. This was four years after he first came to Louisville to engage in business. Three children were born of the union. They are Morris and Walter Uri, of Louisville, and Mrs. M. H. Thelmer, who is now living in Denver, Col.

Engaged in Whisky Business.
When Mr. Uri first came to Louisville he engaged in the whisky business. He immediately became associated with Bernheim Bros., and was elected vice president of the firm. Mr. Uri had previously been engaged in the whisky business in Paducah, but realized that Louisville was a larger field for operations.

Mr. Uri did not remain with Bernheim Brothers long. He decided to withdraw from the firm and embark in business for himself. He continued to engage in the whisky business after the dissolution of the firm, however, and organized the firm of N. M. Uri & Co., with quarters on Main street, between Second street and Third avenue. He was well known throughout the country by whisky men, and was exceedingly popular.

Mr. Uri was always prominently identified with every movement for the betterment of the poor. He was

PRIZE FOOD

Palatable, Economical, Nourishing.

A Nebraska woman has outlined the prize food in a few words, and that from personal experience. She writes:

"After our long experience with Grape-Nuts, I cannot say enough in its favor. We have used this food almost continually for seven years.

"We sometimes tried other advertised breakfast foods, but we invariably returned to Grape-Nuts as the most palatable, economical and nourishing of all.

"When I quit tea and coffee and began to use Postum and Grape-Nuts, I was a nervous wreck. I was so irritable I could not sleep nights, had no interest in life.

"After using Grape-Nuts a short time I began to improve and all these ailments have disappeared and now I am a well woman. My two children have been almost raised on Grape-Nuts, which they eat three times a day.

"They are pictures of health and have never had the least symptom of stomach trouble, even through the most severe stage of whooping cough they could retain Grape-Nuts when all else failed.

"Grape-Nuts food has saved doctor bills, and has been, therefore, a most economical food for us."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

DON'T BE BALD.

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair.

We have a remedy for hair troubles that cannot be surpassed. It has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 92 out of every 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. It will even grow hair on bald heads, if the scalp is not glazed and shiny. That may seem like a strong statement. It is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test.

We are so sure that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid us for Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in every instance where it does not do as we claim or fails to give entire satisfaction to the user.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed and does not grease or gum the hair. We have it in two sizes. Prices 50c. and $1.00. We urge you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our recommendation, and with our guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. W. B. McPherson, Druggist, Paducah.

a member of Adath Israel Temple and was a regular attendant at all services. He belonged to the Standard club, the most exclusive Jewish club in the city, and was identified with the Mystic Shrine and the Louisville lodge of Elks.

Interested in Theatricals.

Mr. Uri took a great interest in theatricals. He often stated that nothing was as improving to the mind as a good play of the right kind, and two years ago backed his son, Morris Uri, in a theatrical venture. The success of his son was most gratifying to Mr. Uri, and he was never happier than when Morris Uri brought one of his own shows to Louisville for three performances.

He took an active interest in athletics of all kinds, being particularly fond of baseball, and was a regular attendant at the game when Louisville was represented in the big league. He became disgusted, however, when this city was relegated to the rear, but stated to intimate friends that any time it was found that Louisville could secure a big league franchise again that he could be called upon for liberal backing.

Man of Strong Convictions.

"Nathan Uri was a man of strong convictions, both in politics and business," said a friend who knew Mr. Uri well. "He always took an intense interest in civic affairs and during the past ten years had been more or less active in public life, serving faithfully and unselfishly with the knowledge that he had done something for the city as his only hope of reward. He led as a member of the board of aldermen and as one of the first trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library he set an example for zeal and efficiency which went far toward making the original board of trustees a standard for that organization. Louisville can ill afford to lose men of Uri's character."

Medicine That Is Medicine.

"I have suffered a good deal with malaria and stomach complaints, but I have now found a remedy that keeps me well, and that remedy is Electric Bitters; a medicine that is medicine for stomach and liver troubles, and for run down conditions," says W. C. Kierstler, of Halliday, Ark. Electric Bitters purify and enrich the blood, tone up the nerves, and impart vigor and energy to the weak. Your money will be refunded if it fails to help you. 50c at all druggists.

FOR NEW STACK

PLANS WILL BE CONSIDERED BY BOARD.

Met This Afternoon to Adopt Specifications for Lighting Plant.

The board of public works met this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in called session to consider the plans for the brick stack and boiler foundation for the city lighting plant. City Engineer Washington had the plans completed at the last regular meeting, but owing to some alterations it was decided to have a special meeting to consider the improvements. The specifications will be approved, and bids will be advertised for the next regular meeting, which will be March 2.

Success at Last.

"Jack London finds Australia a good deal like our own Wild West," said a San Franciscan. "I met him in Melbourne. He had already picked up a bushel of local stories and sketches.

"He told me a story of an actor who had just returned from a long tour inland. This actor said of his tour:

"The first night, sir, in Ulunwila, I was hissed, sir hissed; the second night I was egged, sir, egged; but the third night, sir—

"Here the tragedian snipped his expanded chest.

"—the third night, sir, I played behind a net."

INTERESTING DEBATE IN CIVIL GOVERNMENT.

"Resolved that men without children should pay school tax," was the subject of an interesting debate held yesterday afternoon by the civil government class in the A, eighth grade, of the Washington school. Carl Herman made the argument for the affirmative side and was awarded the decision by the judges who were: Bertha Carter, Thompson Warren and John Thompson. The negative argument was defended by Frank White. Both subject well, and their speeches showed good preparation, and a study of the question. The civil government class is taught by Miss Emma Acker, and it is the intention to have the debates at frequent intervals during the study. Next Tuesday afternoon the question: "Resolved that there should be an educational qualification for suffrage." The debates are held in the afternoon, and although only the pupils are present, the discussions are interesting.

Daily Thought.

Fools must be taught by experience.—Livy.

All hands are manning the pumps at Cairo.

Mr. Taft went to New York city to seek seclusion in which to write.

The conservatives in congress are becoming rather radical on some subjects.

Senator-elect Theodore Burton, of Ohio, has been blackballed by the Ananias club.

We are left to conjecture why the old trust desires a Chicago jury, instead of unknown countrymen.

No decision has been made by the court of appeals in regard to the double hanging, originally arranged for Friday; but they say no noise is good noise.

After March 4 we shall be able to ascertain whether the recent increase in tonnage indicates the growing volume of trade, or merely the restlessness of Mr. Taft.

IDEALS IN GOVERNMENT.

"The trouble with our laws," declared a scholar recently, "is that they are based on ideals and cannot be enforced. Their non-enforcement brings all law into contempt, England's laws are all the result of compromise."

Very good, Mr. Scholar. Your religion also—as not that idealistic? You do not pretend to perfection. You fall far short of living up to your religious principles, don't you? Doesn't the failure of all believers to live up to the ideal of their religion tend to bring their religion into contempt?

Now, why not adopt the common-sense view of the matter? You cannot live a perfect life. Your religion teaches that. Your failure reflects on your professions in the eyes of the unbelievers. Why not adopt a compromise religion? It is simple enough. You know about the standards of living a man is capable of attaining. Adopt certain regulations based on those standards, and the unbelievers will cease their contempt for your professions.

Mr. Scholar knows what would be the result of such a standard of religion, and we know what would result from such a standard of government in a Democracy. We have not attained the highest development of our peculiar form of government. By maintaining our ideals we are constantly advancing toward the goal of perfection, which in all reason we shall never reach this side the pearly gates.

Mr. Scholar, too, would remember, if he only thought as much as the reads, that religion is brought into contempt only of those who are seeking flaws in it to excuse their own refusal to conform; and laws are held in contempt only of the lawless.

In our government, as in our religion, we can establish certain ideals and by constant striving toward them elevate our standards of living; but we cannot, by compromising our principles, hope to elevate our ideals eventually by first raising our standard of living.

SOME STORIES

AROUND TOWN

It was in the Palmer House bar about 8 o'clock in the evening. Four visitors from the "sticks" walked boldly in the door, and then seemed to wither in the flash of light from the prism glasses, the sheen of the bar fixtures and the unaccustomed luxury of it all. They sidled over to a table with four chairs, that appeared to offer a very haven of obscurity, and having sunk into the seats, they grinned at one another and gazed around with wonder-struck eyes. As is always the case, one of the quartet was observant and imitative. Once he got his bearings he proceeded to watch a customer with the evident intention of "doing as the Romans did." The customer took an olive from the end of the bar and applied it to his lips. A moment afterward Mr. Josh Wise was at the end of the bar with a band in the olive dish. He grinned a grin of recognition at the plums and put one in his mouth, while he took two more from the dish. The observant bartender longed for a picture machine to catch the transformation of the rube's face. The grin faded into an ashen look of helpless despair, then astonishment took possession of his lineaments, to be succeeded by an expression of good humored appreciation, that dawned like the warm glow of sunshine on a June morning, and by the time he spat out the olive Josh was actually chuckling.

"Pretty good! Pretty good!" the bartender heard him say, and he chuckled again, as he carried the two olives over to the table and presented them to two of his comrades.

One smiled the same smile of recognition that lighted up the face of Josh at the bar, as he put the olive in his mouth, and then they all burst forth in a roar of laughter, when the second one made a wry face and spat out the nasty mouthful.

"That's a pretty good joke," called out the first one, now thoroughly at home, to the bartender. "How did you fix them plums?"

LYCEUM CONCERT COMPANY FAILED TO REACH PADUCAH.

The Lyceum Concert company that was to have appeared here last night under the auspices of the Paducah chapter, U. D. C., for the benefit of the Confederate monument fund, failed to arrive. They were due on the Cairo train last night, but that was forced by washouts to go around by Fulton and was several hours late in getting in. The manager telegraphed from Cairo that it would put the company here too late to give the concert, so the date was cancelled. It is presumed that the company went direct from Cairo to its next appointment, Westchester, Ill., so as not to altogether upset its schedule of dates.

The chapter did not know of the train's delay in time to notify the public in any way. Notwithstanding the unpleasant evening quite a large audience had gathered at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church for the concert. Much regret was expressed, especially by the friends of Mr. Karl Smith, who had anticipated hearing the popular young cellist again.

COTTON FUTURE SHOWS INCREASE

Average of Southern Staple in Greater.

Outlook for Winter Wheat Is Decrease of Five Per Cent Acreage.

WHERE DOES CORN GO TO?

The United States in the crop year of 1908 added more than a million spindles to its consuming capacity. Although it took nearly half a million less bales of cotton for consumption than in the year before, says the Wall Street Journal. This tendency throughout the cotton textile world of splendor to run ahead of actual consumption has been a feature of the trade for the greater part of the past two years. Out of this relation is developing a condition in the industrial world which is giving no little concern to interests that had been counting on a revival of trade demand long before the beginning of the cotton planting season in the southern states for 1909.

Comparison of the sources of supply of cotton with the mill takings by countries shows the two aspects of the problem from the points of view of producer and consumer. The production for raw cotton in percentages below are for the crop year ended with August 31, 1908, as are also the consumption figures.

From the above table it is apparent that the demand for cotton fiber is much more widely distributed in the world's trade, considered geographically, than is the supply. Six different countries make up nearly all of the areas which have any significance in the production of raw cotton, while twice as many political groups are concerned in the regularity and abundance of yield for their manufacturing industries.

Yet the production and the consumption of cotton occupy a very different position so far as development goes. Producing countries enlarge their acreage much more slowly than consuming countries add to their spinning capacity. As the east and the Mediterranean countries, and such rapidly developing powers as Mexico take to manufacturing for their own domestic needs, as well as for exports, some success in enlarging their cotton acreage, but not correspondingly.

It is this difference in the tendencies of agriculture and manufacture that presents to the cotton world a problem of much more vital significance than the ordinary observer is inclined to give it. At home, where we consume about 40 per cent. of the crop we grow, the future does not weigh upon us with such concern as the German, the French or even the British, who put capital into colonial cotton ventures, give to it. Last year the world's consumption of American cotton was conservatively estimated, even on three-fourths of the maximum capacity of the mills, at approximately 12,500,000 bales. And that was in the face of a crop of little more than 11,000,000 bales of 500 pounds.

The potential consumption of the world's cotton mills, with their increased spindleage of the past eight or nine years, is not now less than 21,000,000 bales. The demand has meanwhile advanced 24.2 per cent. Mill building goes on steadily, acreage is stationary, or nearly so. It must be evident that the present dullness in manufacturing demand, in which American spot cotton middlings on either side of the Atlantic hover about 10c a pound, is only a lull in spinnings competition for cotton. The end of the latest crop year, in spite of depression that was worldwide, left the markets with a stock of only 2,207,558 bales on hand on August 31, 1908. The future is all the more interesting with the price of fiber hardly sufficient to maintain the acreage in the United States, which supplies two-thirds of the world's milling needs.

Wheat Crop Outlook.

The main fact which has been definitely ascertained about winter wheat at this stage of its progress is the decrease of 1,762,000 acres, or 5.6 per cent, less than the area sown in the fall of 1907. There are now under growth, according to the December returns of the department of agriculture, 29,844,000 acres in winter wheat. The acreage in rye was estimated at 4 per cent, less than that sown in the preceding year, bringing the total slightly below 2,000,000 acres. These two broad crops therefore afford the country an area of 31,819,000 acres. The records of winter and spring wheat acreage and yields are as follows for eight years:

	Winter.	Spring.

As a partial offset to the decrease in winter wheat acreage in the United States account should be taken of the rapid expansion of Canadian spring wheat areas. Threshing returns estimate the yield there last year at 119,200,000 bushels, of which the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta produced practically 100,000,000 bushels.

Wheat Becomes of Corn.

People often wonder, particularly those who have traveled for hundreds of miles through the corn belt, what becomes of corn which is grown every year, says the Corn Reporter. In the year 1908, when the total crop was 2,666,000,000 bushels, 241,000,000 bushels were consumed in flour and grist mill products, 8,000,000 bushels in the manufacture of starch, 9,000,000 bushels for malt liquors, 17,000,000 bushels in the production of distilled liquors, 40,000,000 bushels for glucose, 190,000,000 bushels for export and 13,000,000 bushels for seed, making a total of 518,000,000 bushels, or 19.3 per cent. of the entire crop. The remaining 80.7 per cent., or 2,148,000,000 bushels, seems to have been used almost entirely for feeding purposes.

STEPHENSON'S ACCUSER HEARD

State Senator Blaine is Star Witness.

Blaine Figures Amount Spent by the Wisconsin Senator at About $250,000.

HIS NEWSPAPER BOOSTING

Madison, Wis., Feb. 24.—State Senator John J. Blaine was the star witness before the legislature committee investigating the senatorial primary.

Blaine is the man who made the charges of alleged corruption against Senator Stephenson in the senatorial campaign. The examination of Blaine was practically confined to the first of sixteen specified charges of alleged corruption.

The first of these charged that Stephenson had spent $106,000 and approximately $250,000 during the campaign.

Information as to the first named amount, Blaine said, he received from State Chairman Edmunds. As to the $250,000 he said he figured that the booming which Stephenson received through his Milwaukee newspaper swelled the amount to the higher figure. Blaine figured out that the circulation of Stephenson's paper created attacks upon former Assemblyman Ekern in Ekern's district he considered as corruption.

At the afternoon session Blaine said he had several letters showing that money was used unlawfully and that he would present these letters probably tomorrow.

He Won His Case.
 The lawyer told Mike Dolan, his client, that he had a good fighting case. Mike mused a minute and then said, tentatively: "Do you think it would do any good to send his honor a couple o' ducks?" "No, no!" replied the lawyer; "I know him too well. If you did that he would decide the case against you, sure as fate." Two days afterward the case was heard, and Mike won it out and out. So he called on his lawyer, and in the course of settling up affairs remarked: "Well, you see, sir, it was just as well I sent his honor those ducks." "What!" exclaimed the astonished counsel; "you sent the ducks after what I said?" "Yes, I did," replied Mike; "only, after what you told me, I thought it just as well to send them from the man on the other side."—Dundee Advertiser.

APPOINTMENT OF INQUIRY COURT

For Re-Enlistment of Negro Soldiers.

Bill Passes Senate, President Authorized to Appoint Court—Appropriation Bill.

OCCUPY SESSION IN HOUSE.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The president is authorized to appoint a court of inquiry to determine the qualifications for re-enlistment of the discharged negro soldiers of the 25th Infantry regiment who were accused of shooting up Brownsville, Texas, on the night of August 13-14, 1906. The Aldrich bill for this purpose was passed by a party vote of 54 to 26 except that Teller voted with the Republicans for the passage of the bill.

The bill is a compromise of a measure approved by President Roosevelt, Senator Foraker and all Republican members of the committee on military affairs. The court of inquiry will act as a board to consider applications for the re-enlistment and recommend the restoration to duty of such soldiers not found guilty of complicity in the affair.

The senate also passed the fortification bill, with an appropriation of $8,220,111, and a diplomatic and consular bill carrying $40,640,384.

In the House.
 Washington, Feb. 24.—Appropriation bills mainly occupied the house today. The sundry civil bill was considered but progress was slow. The fortification, legislative executive and judicial, diplomatic and consular and postoffice appropriations bills were sent to conference.

Clarke, of Alabama, unsuccessfully attempted to secure an investigation by a committee on the judiciary into the writing of a recent letter by Secretary Bacon apologizing for Itaney's remarks regarding President Obaldia, of Panama. Clarke's object being to ascertain if Bacon's reference to Itaney constituted an abuse of the privilege of the house.

The Exact Quantity.

The host was one of the newly rich of the vainglorious kind, and he was explaining to his dinner guests the cost of the dessert. "This pineapple, for instance, cost me $12, and—er—Mr. Jones, can I offer you a slice?"

"Yes, sir, you may," rejoined Jones. "I will take about thirty-five cents worth."—New York Times.

THE REMARKABLE CRAZE FOR BAR-GAIN COUNTERS

In an age remarkable for silly crazes, ranging from freak religions to freak puppy dogs, perhaps the craziest craze of all is that very prevalent one for cheapness.

Our ancestors believed in the truth of the saying, "the best is cheapest in the end," but in our "wisdom" we pretend to know better than that, and in grabbing at the shadow of cheapness we lose the boue of value for our money.

Unquestionably many things, principally in the way of foodstuffs, are really cheap nowadays, compared with what they were generations ago.

But that is not the kind of cheapness I mean. It is the craze for "shoddy" that is such a widespread and in many ways disastrous characteristic of these times. It shows itself chiefly in the purchase of worthless substitutes and imitations, and women are the chief sinners in this respect.

For the so-called "cheap" article is generally worthless, and is, therefore, exorbitantly dear, however small may be its price.

Take furniture, for instance. Our grandmothers—I am talking more particularly of people of moderate means—spent as much on furnishing one room as the modern young matron spends on furnishing an entire house or flat. What the former had was good; it appreciated rather than depreciated in value, and lasted forever.

But the latter has a houseful of "sticks" that wouldn't fetch the price of kindling wood at auction, and, moreover, have everlastingly to be renewed and replaced.

Grandmother made a sound investment bearing good interest in the way of wear and usefulness. The modern woman, who is tainted with this mania for cheapness, gets no interest on her furniture money. On the contrary, she is spending her capital all the time, and having practically refurnished her house half a dozen times, in the end she still has nothing worth having.

It is the same with dress. The average woman nowadays has probably six dresses to her grandmother's one. But is she so well dressed as the old lady was? I think not. Cheap clothes simply shriek their shoddiness aloud.

I know some feminine readers will say—I have heard the argument advanced—that they buy cheap blouses knowing that they will not last, but as they are so cheap they can buy several at a time, and thus always have something fresh to put on.

Well, as I have said, shoddy is never tongue-tied.

But, apart from that, how do they know that when their quickly worn out wardrobe is exhausted they will be able to afford to replenish it?

Apart from the economic question, this mania for cheap finery is remarkably ally on the part of women who give way to it.

A man who wears "flash" clothes or jewelry simply invites mistrust, and I don't see why the same should not apply to women workers, who are perhaps most given to meretricious adornment.

Not that the vice—for it almost amounts to one—is confined to working women only. One sees far too many women in the position of ladies flaunting imitation diamonds and pearls, and one strong characteristic of the modern woman in general appears to be a strong objection to paying a fair price for a good article.

This brings me to the point that the craze for cheapness is not only silly but pernicious.

In the first place, it puts a premium on dishonest trading. The "cheap woman" requires the shopman to sell her articles as "hand-made," "all wool," or what not, at a price impossible if they were genuine. The trader has either to lie or lose her custom.

In the next place, the craze for cheapness is ruining the crafts of this country.

I am not going to embark on fiscal questions, but perhaps it is the craze for the cheap and nasty far more than free trade that enabled the foreigner successfully to dump his shoddy goods here. The British workman was the finest in the world, but for long there has been no demand for good work and he is losing his skill.

Here is a case in point: A friend of mine has an infant's robe which served him some 40 years ago, has since served his three children and is still as good as new, despite the macabre (in more senses than one) of the modern laundress.

Desiring to have other infantile garments made of the same material, his wife took it to a first class firm of baby outfitters, only to be told, "Ah, madam, you can't get stuff like this nowadays." The best she could get, paying a fair price, was quickly worn out.

It used to be said, "there is nothing like leather." Nowadays there are a hundred and one things "like" leather, including brown paper. But all said and done, there is nothing like leather. If we only had the gumption to realize this economic truth.

Alas! we haven't.—Pearson's Weekly.

MRS. C. G. BENNETT, Alma, Mich.

Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance and Spasms, are all nervous diseases. They have been cured in so many instances with Dr. Miles' Nerveine that it is reasonable to conclude that it is almost sure to cure you. With nervous diseases of a severe type, persistent use has almost invariably resulted in a complete cure or lasting benefits, worth many times the cost of the remedy. The best evidence you can get of its merits is to write to those who have used it. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the people of our city have been led to purchase so-called remedies from which they have received no benefit whatever, and having thus wasted so much hard-earned money, it has come to pass that they know not what to believe.

Inasmuch as this unsatisfactory state of affairs exists, KNOW, THEREFORE, ALL PERSONS who are in need of such a medicine that we will supply them with VINOL on a POSITIVE GUARANTEE that if it does not succeed in benefiting them we will refund the entire amount of money paid us for it.

There is no one medicine that will cure everything, but there are some we know to be honest, reliable, and of great curative value. Such is VINOL; it is not a secret medicine,—just peptonate of iron, wine, and all the curative extractives of cod liver oil, combined. We are familiar with every particle of it, and KNOW that it should benefit every one who uses it.

Could any offer be more fair than this? You are ill; we offer you medicine which we believe will help you, and if it does not we will return your money. Is there anyone foolish enough not to accept this offer? You owe it to your family, to your friends, and yourself to try this medicine which we give you our pledge is a genuine cod liver and iron preparation of great merit.

We unhesitatingly recommend Vinol as a Body Builder and Strength Creator for Feeble Old People, Delicate Children, Frail Women, All Run Down Persons, and Those Needing a Good Tonic after the Grippe or any Severe Illness, and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

Do you think we could afford to lend our name to its praises, as we have been doing in the newspapers, if we did not know VINOL to be an honest and unusually valuable remedy for the ills for which it is prescribed? We certainly could not; we therefore ask you, our neighbors, friends and acquaintances to accept our assurances that this is a genuine offer, and that any and all persons who need a medicine of this character should feel a sense of security in accepting it.

You will absolutely be under no obligation to us whatever, if after you have tried one bottle of VINOL, and have not received any benefit, you have only to tell us so, and we will return the entire amount of money you paid us for it.

VINOL is an old and valuable remedy improved by modern science—tastes good and agrees with every one.

Call and get a bottle to-day. You won't be sorry.

WILL REORGANIZE

"LITTLE MISS BLUE BIRD" COMPANY REHEARSING.

All Board Bills Are Paid and Most of Actors Will Remain With Manager Harrington.

Manager Harrington, of the "Little Miss Blue Bird" company, stated today that it is erroneous to say that the baggage of the company was attached for board bills. The company is reorganizing and will continue on the road. Also new people are coming on and most of the original company of 20 people will remain with the show. The trouble was caused by a knocker, so the manager says, who would not stand for a few weeks' bad business.

WRESTLING MATCH

ANOTHER INTERESTING EVENT FOR FRIDAY NIGHT.

"Wild Joe" Collins Will Appear With Omaha Wonder In Catch-as-Catch-Can Bout.

The second athletic event will be presented at the Kentucky theater Friday night. On that occasion Champion Joe Collins will meet a wonder from Omaha in a catch-as-catch-can, two fall's in three bout on the mat. It promises to be as pretty an exhibition as the last one. Local amateur wrestlers and boxers also will have goes, and a battle royal will add to the hilarity of the occasion.

Not Worth Touching. Attention to me. The Souze—Yessir, I fell down in the gutter, and nobody paid any attention to me. His Pal—You must have felt like you'd been picked me up if I looked worth that much.—Cleveland Leader.
